nila, mundu and luoma were familiar with being in circles where sharing did heighten the group members counciousness there is a worldwide organisation who redistribute funds coming from colonization times... like... descendants of colonising ancestors are very happy to give part of their inheritance to the organisation what then buys houses, finds homeless or very poor persons whom the houses can be given too that is how nila, mundu and luoma got their 200m2 house in sao paolo as they experienced poverty for the first fiveteen years of their lives, they felt in good agreement with the android robot companion for everyone campaign it was exciting to imagine all their friends who had to do the not really nice jobs in the rich peoples houses... one day taking their androids with to work and instruct them to do the jobs as they were giving insights about their lives to ascende and perma, an idea was forming in ascende s mind he said... what do you think of the sharing of houses like we just did now ... as an independent model, independent from the android crowdfunding goal... luoma answered... i find that a good idea, as the ability to travel all the world and stay for free at the houses what are given into the pool... can be motivating for the people who not particularily see the necessity or benefits for society with an android help for everyone nila... we might even combine the two approaches with for example one or more androids in the houses what can do the repair and maintenance works if the temporory visitors agree with it if they rather to prefer to live without machines while staying, the tasks can be done when they moved out onto the next house perma... of course they can also do something themselves if they feel capable of performing as well as the androids mundu...with it not being a matter of concurrence or competition but one of choice ascende... this way also dance companies or artist colonies could join the sharing movement they continued chatting awhile about the possible synergies of the two concepts when nila said... hey, i just saw on the net a flight from sao paolo tomorrow morning... mundu... let us book it luoma... but do we have the money to pay for it ? ascende... i would very much like to come up with the needed sum, let me know your account details and i send it to you electronicly this evening nila...how generous of you again, we are looking forward to see you soon then in paris they said goodbye to each other wearing happy smiles ascende and perma were very satisfied with the events and plans initiated today they made their round to look and greet the experimental cell cultures aero-,hydroponic plants, bioreactors and funghi chambers, snacking here and there with giving thanks soon they were well nurished and met at the water place to silently sit there to watch the drops coming forming below the sand filter
